

Greetings from the President

Julie Johnson

Welcome to all Alumni! 2017 will be an exciting year for our Pomeroy College of Nursing at Crouse Hospital. A new RN in 18 Months Weekend-Evening Track is being added and the hospital is opening its new ER, Pomeroy Emergency Services. Multiple other expansions are in the works.

Your Alumni Board of Directors and Officers would like to expand our scholarship and financial aid funds as the College grows. We always encourage members to pay their $25 dues each year to keep our financial aid available to as many students as possible.

In the spring, graduation is one of our favorite events. The date this year is May 25, 2017. Our spring luncheon is the following week on June 3, 2017 at a location we haven't been to in about 12 years, Embassy Suites by Hilton on Carrier Circle. Menu selection and reservation form are included with this newsletter; form is also posted on our website at Crouse.org/nursing/alumni. Please have your reservation in by May 26, 2017. We will be honoring the 50 year class (1967) and the 25 year class (1992). The 60 year class (1957) will also have a special table. Hope to see everyone there!

Thank you,
Julie Johnson, Class of 1961

News from the Pomeroy College of Nursing

by Rhonda Reader, Dean

Rhonda Reader

As I write this, I am thinking about spring and planning for graduation which will be held at Hendricks Chapel, Syracuse University on Thursday, May 25, 2017. It's been another busy semester at the College. We inducted 18 students as members of the Delta Zeta Chapter of the Alpha Delta Nu Nursing Honor Society. Many of our students were actively fund raising this spring to benefit the American Heart Association (AHA). Faculty, staff, and students walked as a team in the AHA Heart Walk on April 1st. They could also be found at Destiny USA Shopping Center on April 8th helping with Crouse Health's Day of Dance. We are extremely proud of our students' willingness to volunteer their time and energy on behalf of the college and the profession of nursing.

We also hosted some unique groups this spring. Mascots for a Cure – Chubby Checker's Twist Away Childhood Cancer Challenge was at the Marley Education Center to film a fundraising promotion. Our students participated in a Twist challenge with Otto the Orange, Syracuse University's mascot. Chubby Checker graciously posed for photos with our faculty and staff. It was a fun afternoon and Chubby even serenaded his audience.

Finally, scenes for a movie to be aired on the Hallmark channel were filmed in our Clinical Learning and Simulation Lab.

They needed to capture hospital scenes, so our lab was the next best thing! Watch for a Christmas movie entitled "Old Acquaintance Be Forgot" to see if you recognize your alma mater!

From Our Chief Nursing Officer

by Betty O'Connor (Class of 1980)

Betty O'Connor

It's not unusual for people to approach me as chief nursing officer to ask about my vision of the future. The truth is, my vision – our collective vision – never changes. It remains steadfastly service excellence, dynamic work environment, building on centers of clinical and organizational excellence, innovation and collaboration and financial and resource stewardship.

What does change throughout the years are the strategic focus areas we identify as integral to achieving our vision. For 2017-2018, our strategic focus areas are:

- Clinical excellence: Provide the highest quality patient care
- Customer experience: Enhance employee and patient engagement
- Physician engagement: Strengthen alignment with physicians
- Optimize revenue/manage costs: Ensure financial sustainability and continued growth and service to our community

- Information technology: Improve health of patients and the community by communicating and sharing data across the health system.

Let's talk about that last focus first. It's been almost a year since Soarian, our electronic health record, went live. Our nurses are carefully monitoring this technology in their provision of the highest quality patient care. We are listening to their suggestions and continuously improving the system for staff satisfaction.

Regarding the customer experience, I'd like to share with you four new initiatives to enhance patient and employee engagement. First, in January 2017, we opened a new unit on 4 Memorial featuring private rooms for bariatric and colorectal patients. We've received good feedback regarding the privacy these new rooms allow. Second, our dialysis unit moved from 3 Irving to a new 4-bed unit on 3 Memorial. We continue to partner with DaVita to care for our patients with dialysis needs on 3 Memorial. Third, moving the dialysis unit allows further expansion of the 3rd floor of Irving to increase our ICU capacity to 29 beds. This growth is needed to support our neurovascular program. The process of upgrading our Stroke Designation from Primary Stroke Center to Comprehensive Stroke Center has begun. Last, our new ED project is on time with the first-phase opening scheduled for mid-July, 2017. With the first-phase move into the shell space above the OR suite, the next phase is the renovation of the "old ED" to allow Prompt Care to move over. Completion of this second phase is anticipated in 2018.

All of these initiatives would not be possible without tremendous team effort. In that spirit, we continue to be a DAISY Hospital, recognizing the work of extraordinary nurses on a monthly basis. We're excited to celebrate Nurses' Day on May 5th with the unveiling of DAISY pictures recognizing the monthly honorees for 2016. As you will read in this newsletter, many of our DAISY award recipients are Crouse College of Nursing alumni. For them, you can feel justifiably proud. Wishing you a joyous spring!

College of Nursing Starts Honor Society

The Pomeroy College of Nursing at Crouse Hospital is the first associate degree program in Central New York, and just the fourth in New York State, to start a chapter of the national Alpha Delta Nu Nursing Honor Society. Last year, the faculty initiated the process of starting a chapter at the college. In January, the charter for the Delta Zeta Chapter was granted, and the students were officially inducted during a special ceremony on September 8.

To be eligible for induction, a student must have a 3.0 cumulative GPA, grades of A or B in nursing courses, and complete a service project. Students are nominated for membership to the honor society during their third semester of study and, if deemed eligible, are inducted during their fourth semester.

The inaugural members of the college's Delta Zeta Chapter are ten students who have excelled academically throughout their nursing education and completed a service project to benefit the March of Dimes. The first student inductees are: Alyssa Downey, Leah Doherty, Trish Andrews, Ashleigh Bossi, Megan Canell, Elizabeth Hutchinson, Celeste Joyce, Larissa Knox, Chantelle Ruff, and Betty Strong.

Discover The New York Heritage Program

by Kristine Delaney, MLS, Crouse Hospital Library Administrator

Kristine Delaney

The preservation of photographs, letters, scrapbooks and yearbooks helps us understand what it was like to be a nursing student in past decades and compare that experience to the present. The Crouse Health Library houses many items donated to our archives by alumni from the Crouse-Irving and Crouse-Irving Memorial Hospital Schools of Nursing. Maybe our archival collection includes a donation from you!

Archives are now entering a new and exciting era. Digitization of images and historical content allows libraries to offer their collections online. At the Crouse Health Library, we are currently participating in an initiative through the Empire State Library network called the New York Heritage Program. As stated on their web page (nyheritage.org/about), New York Heritage is a research portal for students, educators, historians and others interested in learning more about the people, places and institutions of New York State. The site currently provides free access to more than 170 digital collections. Crouse began contributing to New York Heritage in 2010 adding 50 digital photographs depicting and describing the history of our Hospital. Please take a look at our collection to date (cdm16694.contentdm.oclc.org).

We hope to supplement our collection with the help of interns from Syracuse University's School of Information studies who help with the scanning and loading of the images. Plans are underway for a future project which will include the digitization of the College's yearbook collection (1949-1973), as other schools have done.

Please enjoy our digital collection and look for more exciting content to appear in the coming months. Consider supporting our New York Heritage yearbook scanning project by pledging an amount to preserve and share your legacy. Gifts will be utilized to cover the costs of digitization services and protective storage for original materials. Tax-deductible donations can be made directly to the Crouse Health Foundation, 736 Irving Avenue, Syracuse, NY 13210, earmarked for the Alumni Archives Fund. For information on other ways to support Crouse's history preservation efforts, contact Carrie Berse at (315) 470-7004. Many thanks!

A Living History Example from the Crouse Hospital Archives

by Kristine Delaney, MLS, Crouse Hospital Library Administrator

One item from the Crouse Hospital archival collection, a photograph displayed here, shows Crouse-Irving student nurse Anne Brossus Seaward who graduated in 1932. Anne is a living history example of what we know about nursing students in the 1930s. As the country was pulling out of the great depression and more attention was given to the professional education of nurses, nursing care still involved a great deal of hands-on care. Patients were very sick with diseases that are no longer life-threatening such as diphtheria, polio, typhoid fever, and venereal disease. The widespread use of antibiotics did not occur till the early 1940s. Nursing students in the 1930s adhered to strict aseptic techniques and depended on soap and water to stay well themselves.

At Crouse-Irving Hospital in the 1930s, students learned about these diseases and practiced how to care for patients through a course of study in a New York State

Anne Brossus Seaward

Regents-approved RN diploma program which was 2 years and 4 months in length. In addition to their studies, student nurses were also required to work 8 hours per day six days per week in the hospital. A preliminary course of four months for which the student paid $40 constituted a probationary period. The hospital provided board, room, laundry, and text books.

The 1932 General Information

for Applicants describes what was expected of student nurses in terms of deportment:

Crouse-Irving nurses are not allowed to smoke or drink. They are not allowed on duty wearing an excessive or unnatural amount of coloring on the face or lips and are requested not to do so at any time. Eyebrows must not be plucked or cut. Students are expected to comply with the requirements and ideals of the School. Any other conduct will not be acceptable to the Board. These instructions are here outline so that the nurse may know her obligations before entering upon her train.

These are certainly not contemporary standards for nursing students though professionalism is still a very important aspect of nursing education. As health care today changes rapidly, history informs our future approaches.
